TWO NEW Art Installations AT THE Main Library

The Main Library has added two more art installations as part of ReImagining Works, the partnership with the Dayton Art Institute which commissions new artwork at each Dayton Metro Library location.

URBAN MASK #1: CULTURAL WARRIOR SERIES BY WILLIS “BING” DAVIS
A large urban mask displayed in the Atrium near the Cooper Park entrance, which uses found objects and other materials from the urban landscape.

These two new works join six other pieces at the Main Library, and 26 other ReImagining Works art installations at our new and renovated Libraries across the county. Have you seen them all? There are 13 more artworks coming to the Wilmington-Stroop, Southeast and Trotwood Branch Libraries, with 12-16 more planned for the remaining Branches.

STREAM AT HUFFMAN PRAIRIE BY MICHELLE STITZLEIN
- A mixed media wall sculpture installed above the fireplace in the Parkside Place & Lounge on the second floor. This piece incorporates objects donated by members of the public.

“THE REIMAGINING WORKS PROJECT IS A WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY FOR ARTISTS TO REINTERPRET EXISTING ARTWORK AND SAY SOMETHING BRAND NEW,” SAID JAYNE KLOSE, COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT MANAGER. “THE TWO NEW PIECES AT THE MAIN LIBRARY GO EVEN FURTHER, BY TAKING CAST-OFF OBJECTS AND TURNING THEM INTO SOMETHING BEAUTIFUL.”

DML surveyed 531 parents and caregivers whose children participated in the 2018 SUMMER CHALLENGE. Here’s what they said:

- 97% reported their child maintained or increased their reading skills
- 86% reported their child was a more confident reader
- 86% reported their child reads more often

The students themselves agreed. Of the 184 teens and kids who responded to our survey:

- 88% said they learned something new from what they read or experienced
- 83% said they enjoy reading more
- 81% said they read more often

Parents, the challenge is on you to encourage your children to keep reading and learning during the summer.

Why? Because children who keep reading while they are out of school are far more likely to maintain their grade level achievement and return to school prepared and ready to learn in the fall.

What can you do to help your child read and learn this summer?

- Encourage your children to read what interests them. Whether it’s comic books, picture books, fiction or nonfiction, eBooks or audiobooks – if the subject and format interests your children, they will be far more likely to read. Your Librarian can help you and your child find materials that will be most appealing.

- Build reading time into each day. For a half hour after dinner, or an hour before bed, you and your children can turn off the electronics and spend quiet time reading – together or independently. Demonstrate for your child that reading is important to you.

- Keep reading materials readily available. Visit your Library and bring home stacks of books to have on hand. Did you know that your borrowed Library materials are automatically renewed up to five times unless someone else has requested them? And there are no overdue fines – as long as the materials are returned (not damaged or lost).

- Make sure your children are registered for the SUMMER CHALLENGE! They will earn new books and other fun prizes as they reach specific reading levels, and there are AWESOME Grand Prizes too!

MANDIE SAYS, “WE KNOW THAT WHEN PARENTS ARE MORE INVOLVED, CHILDREN ACHIEVE MORE IN SCHOOL, HAVE HIGHER SELF-ESTEEM, EARN BETTER TEST SCORES AND GRADUATE AT HIGHER RATES. WHEN FAMILIES, SCHOOLS AND LIBRARIES WORK TOGETHER, STUDENTS ARE MORE SUCCESSFUL AND THE ENTIRE COMMUNITY BENEFITS.”

Summer Challenge runs May 17-August 3. Choose online tracking or a paper tracker to record the time spent reading and attending Library programs. Sign up for the SUMMER CHALLENGE at your nearest Branch Library, or register online at DaytonMetroLibrary.org/Summer.

YOUTH SERVICES DIRECTOR
